

Who I Am - Sadaqat Ali

My name is Sadaqat Ali. I was born and raised in the vibrant city of Multan. Growing up there was a journey filled with beautiful memories, strong traditions, and close family ties.

At the age of 20, I had completed my studies and was working locally. Multan gave me my foundation — the values I carry to this day.

When I turned 25, I decided to move to Lahore in search of better opportunities. The shift wasn't easy, but the city welcomed me with open arms. I found new friends, new ambitions, and started building my life with a broader perspective.

Today, I look back with gratitude at both Multan and Lahore — the cities that shaped me into who I am.
